TOP SPOT in the California State Senate this week went to Republican Senator Howard Way, of Exeter, whose district includes Tulare county. Way was elected president pro tempore of the Senate, unseating Hugh Burns, Fresno Democrat, who had called a caucus to "settle once and for all" the question of whether or not the Republicans would elect a president pro tempore after gaining a majority in the Senate. Vote was 21-19, and followed considerable political in-fighting between Way and Burns.

PORTERVILLE - It will be "kid night" at the Porterville fair this evening, as youngsters from 5-14 years show and parade their pets in the grandstand area of the fair grounds, starting at 6:30 p.m.

ACTION OF THE AUCTION SATURDAY WILL BE A HIGHLIGHT OF THE FAIR

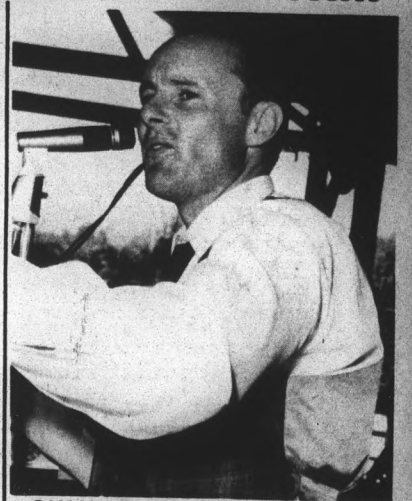

PORTERVILLE - Action of the auction - the sounds, the color, the excitement - will be a highlight of the Porterville fair Saturday afternoon, when Skinner Hardy puts top quality Future Farmer and 4-H animals on the block. The sale will start at 1 p.m.

Finished beef animals, lambs and barrows will go on the block, all of them project animals entered in Porterville fair competition by 4-H club and Future Farmer members in southeastern Tulare county. The sale marks the final chapter in project work, with profit or loss determined by the prices paid by buyers.

On the sale committee are: Judge George Carter, chairman; R. J. Owen, Wilbert Moench, Richard Owen, and John Trimmell. Persons who cannot attend the auction but who desire to purchase the finest food locker meat can order through Trimmell, telephones 784-1986, or 784-4265.

Sale clerk will be Earl W. Reed; cashier for the sale will be C. Duane Miller.

Initial check of market animals entered in the 1969 fair shows 100 lambs, 43 hogs and 94 steers.

SKINNER HARDY, world's champion livestock auctioneer, will handle the gavel and "sing" the bidding at the Porterville Fair's market livestock auction Saturday afternoon, starting at 1 p.m., on the fair grounds. Hardy, owner of the Stockman's market and the Western Stockmen's Market, sold his first animal at auction at the Porterville fair when he was a small boy and his father, the late Col. Harry Hardy, handled the Porterville fair sale. Hardy donates his services to the Porterville event.

Editorial Comment

A SOLUTION AT LAST

Efforts to establish legislative ground rules for collective bargaining in agriculture that are fair to farmers and farm workers alike have long bogged down over the problem of strikes at harvest time and other critical growing periods.

Farmers point out that crops can't be put back on the assembly line; once they're spoiled they're spoiled forever.

Unions insist that the right to strike is essential.

No solution at all is a bill presently before Congress—Senate Bill 8—which simply extends the National Labor Relations Act to agriculture, making no recognition of agriculture's special conditions. Ironically, although S. 8 is union-sponsored, it had the rug pulled out from under it by the farm workers union organizer, Cesar Chavez, presumably because it doesn't go far enough in promoting his often stated goal of "social revolution".

S. 8 had the rug pulled out from under it again last week by the Nixon Administration. Testifying before a Senate Committee in opposition to the bill, Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz pointed out that its provisions "do not adequately recognize the unique characteristics of agriculture as they may be exhibited during the determination of representation issues. Nor does it deal with the problem of strikes at the harvest season."

In an obvious allusion to Chavez' boycott of California table grapes, Secretary Shultz also spoke in opposition to boycotts "directed against an employer's merchandise, designed to force that employer to sign a union contract." He called for legislation that "does seek an orderly answer to the question of what the worker wants — and an answer that recognizes the unique characteristics of work in agriculture."

Such an answer has been proposed by California's Senator George Murphy, who in complimenting the Secretary on his testimony, stated that "the recommendations of Secretary Shultz correspond very closely with my own thinking on the farm labor problem."

Senator Murphy's solution would end boycotts by confining labor disputes to the farm, and would place restrictions on farm strikes if they may reasonably be expected to result in permanent loss or damage to the crop.

At long last, it is not too much to hope that the problem of farm labor disputes which have been threatening California's basic industry and endangering the nation's food supply will be resolved in a fair and equitable manner.

with Bellson presenting his "Thundering Drums;" in second photo, from left: Bellson, Gari Gray, who won the Frank Howard award as the outstanding member of the Panther band during the past year; Donald Deaton, who accepted the Frank Howard award for his wife, Betty, given annually to a former high school

This week you should be at the fair viewing the exhibits, eating the good food, enjoying the program, and judging the livestock. Nowhere can you see so much for so little and at the same time enjoy meeting your friends and neighbors doing the same thing. We know you'll have a good time so turn off the TV and come along.

With all the vim and vigor that you have left we hope you'll use this moderate weather for a bit of gardening. It's really amazing how many varieties of flowers are blooming right here in the nursery. Every so often we look out at all the color and are startled at what we helped create. Especially as we are lousy gardeners just barely able to raise weeds.

Next thing gardeners will have to worry about is keeping the stuff watered. For this we have hoses, sprinklers, buckets, and all the things necessary to make it easier. Included are new gadgets and old favorites such as the twenty-five cent "owl eye" sprinkler which now sells for ninety-nine cents.

All of the finalists, who earlier had won a "Gold Award for Scholastic Achievement," will receive a share of Edison common stock, he said.

two age groups, 8-13 and 14-18 years.

Entries must be filed by 6 p.m., May 16; they will be accepted at the office on the fair grounds, or at The Farm Tribune.

General chairman of the gymkhana is John Keck; working with him are Uly Priftike, Walker Thomas, Dr. Jim Shelton, Mrs. John Keck and Mrs. Herb Brown.

Let's Go To The Fair, next Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Elmer Broad, a recent drill master; and Joan Woody, present drill master. In lower photo, from left: Linda Woody, Teresa Behunin and Captain Paula Wiley, present Broad with a belt and buckle; new officers of the Canterbelle parent group; Jack Everett, president; Jack Beck, vice president; Nancy Behunin, secretary; Pat Grant, treasurer and Sally Cummings, quartermaster. Outgoing president is Richard Grant. Other directors of the Canterbelles have been Delores Klein Fitterer, Dorris Karstaedt, and Yvonne Hicks Beaver. Other girls in the original Canterbelle organization were: Susan Bowker, Dorothy Hoover, Dorene Baker, Cathy Frame, Verna Bellah, Yvonne Hicks, Nancy Green, Frankie Parrott, Barbara Coates, Karen Bastian, Sharon Heffernan, Janet Parkinson, Nina Foran, Susan Foran, Elaine Morris, Helen Beattie, Genia Beattie, Rahno Darr, Patricia Garrett, Sue Harper, Janet Hammond, Millicent Monroe, and Judith Perry. The Canterbelles, originally sponsored by the Porterville Fair board, with organization assistance from the Porterville High School PTA, headed by Mrs. Allan Coates, made their first public appearance on May 14, 1949, during the junior horse show of the second annual Porterville Fair (Tulare County Junior Livestock Show and Community Fair) held on the Porterville High school athletic field. Presently, the Canterbelles are two-time winners of the California State drill team championship. Master of ceremonies at last week's dinner was Bob Moyle; Allan Coates told of formation of the drill team; special guests were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Morris who had two daughters in the original group; and Bill Rodgers who announced the drill during the years that the Canterbelles were sponsored by the Porterville fair board.
